

The Proper Treatment for a Sprained Ankle

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and will be able to do so months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Patent Sprain Cure has been freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than a week's time, and in some cases less within three days. For safety all druggists and dealers.

Our Own Government

The constitutions of the four provinces, viz., Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, which composed the Dominion in 1867 (when the Act of Confederation was passed), are the same in principle and details, except that Ontario and New Brunswick have only one chamber, a Legislative Assembly; the other two being bicameral. Of the provinces since created or admitted each has only one house, an elective Assembly.

In details the Dominion Parliament is closely copied.

The members of the Legislatures as well as the Members of Parliament are paid an indemnity for attendance.

Municipal institutions are generalvariously limited jurisdiction in all the provinces, but not in the Northwest Territories. Police magistrates and justices appointed by the provincial governments have their place in the administration of justice.

The Mounted Police Force in the Northwest Territories constitutes a tribunal of justice, the Commissioner and the Assistant Commissioner having all the powers of a stipendiary magistrate, and the superintendents being ex officio justices of the peace.

Part of the unorganized territories came into possession of Canada by virtue of the Queen's Order of June 24, 1870 (see Statutes of Canada, 1872, p. (xiii) and part by virtue of the Queen's Order of 21st July, 1880 (see Statutes of Canada, 1881, pp. 18, 20).

As to the portion of the unorganized territory which was by the Queen's Order of 23rd June, 1871, transferred to the Dominion, it may be taken that the law of England as it stood on 2nd May, 1867, 1870—the date of the Hudson's Bay Company's charter—applies, subject only to such ordinances as were enacted in reference thereto by the Hudson's Bay Company.

With respect to the other unorganized territory, the title to which was acquired under the Queen's Order of 21st July, 1881, the Order itself states that such territory shall become and be subject to the laws for the time being in force in the Dominion so far as they are applicable to such territories.

By Chap. 17, Federal Acts of 1899 offend committed in any part of Canada east of the provinces of Manitoba and the district of Keewatin and north of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec may be tried within the provinces concerned, the provincial courts of criminal jurisdiction being constituted courts with competent powers.

The highest court in Canada is known as the Supreme Court of Canada. It is an appellate, civil and criminal jurisdiction in and throughout Canada. It has also appellate jurisdiction in controverted election cases, and may examine and report upon any private bill or petition for its sake. It has jurisdiction in case of controversies between the Dominion and the provinces and between the provinces themselves on condition that the legislatures pass Acts agreeing to such jurisdiction. Under Act of the Canadian Parliament passed in 1901, the Governor in Council may refer to the Supreme Court for an opinion upon any matter which he deems advisable in the public interest.

The court is presided over by a chief justice and five puisne judges.

From its decision, an appeal lies by leave to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of England, except in criminal cases, in those the judgment of the supreme court is final.

The Exchequer Court, presided over by a single puisne judge, exercises original jurisdiction in all cases in which demand is made or relief sought in equity, suit or action of the Court of Exchequer, its revenue side, against the Crown or any of its officers. This Court possesses original jurisdiction in all cases in which it receives any law relating to the revenue.

It is also a Colonial Court of Admiralty.

The superior courts of the several provinces are constituted as follows: Ontario—The Supreme Court of Judicature consisting of two permanent divisions called respectively the Court of Appeal for Ontario and the High Court of Justice for Ontario. The first division is composed of a Chief Justice and four puisne judges; the second is divided into three parts having concurrent jurisdiction, Kings Bench, Common Pleas and Chancery, the last two of which are presided over by a Chief Justice and two judges for each, and the third of which is composed of a chancellor and three judges for Quebec. The Chief Justice of the Kings Bench and five puisne judges, and the Chief Justice of the Superior Court and twenty-nine puisne judges whose residences are fixed in various parts of the province. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Judges of Equity and Vice and four puisne judges respectively Manitoba. The Chief Justice and three puisne judges for British Columbia. The Chief Justice and three puisne judges for Prince Edward Island. The Chief Justice and two puisne judges in the Northwest Territories there are five puisne judges of the Supreme Court.

There are also county courts with

New Berlin

It is our sad and painful duty to chronicle the death of one of our pioneers in the person of Mrs. Louisa Wiberg. Mrs. Wiberg was born September 8th 1856 in Elfsborg Co., Värmland, Sweden. In 1881 she was married to Edward E. Wiberg. In 1892 Mr. Wiberg immigrated to Winnipeg, Man. In 1893 his wife joined him in Calgary. After the same year in April they moved to this district and have lived here ever since.

During their happy matrimonial life they have been blessed with five children, three sons and two daughters who all reside at home. On Sunday morning, Aug. 30th, while same as usual she was about her work (at the time being outside in the barn yard she fell as a victim of an apoplectic fit, falling into some water and mud. Mr. Wiberg had previously in the morning gone to a neighbor and the children were in the house, not imagining anything wrong. It was some time before a suspicion was entertained, which, however, when given vent proved the fatal result.

Mr. Wiberg was sent for and after running a mile and a half home was only greeted with the bitter cry of the children standing around their helpless mother. Funeral services were conducted at the home of the deceased Tuesday Sept. 1st by Revs. Nothelfer and C. M. Widén after which the earthly remains were taken to the New Norway cemetery for interment. She is mourned by a bereaved husband and five children and innumerable friends, also a mother and sister in Sweden and other relatives in B. C. and elsewhere. To the husband whose zealous toil in joy and sorrow shall no more be rewarded with the affectionate care of a loving wife and the children who shall no more know the tender love and care of a loyal mother. We extend our deepest sympathy.

Rev. N. J. L. Bergen is moving to his family and household goods to Red Deer this week.

The Evils of Constipation

This dangerous condition causes sick headaches and violent pains, colic, grippe, rheumatism, neuralgia, apoplexy. The most agreeable and most effective remedy is Ferrozene, which normal and unequal action will disorder it. It is mild and certain in action and never causes distasteful or inconvenient. Pain in the stomach and intestines, piles, rheumatism and headache are relieved when Ferrozene is used. Begum, Begum and Dr. Bergman's pain killer. By mail from S. C. Railroad War

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 27.—

The war which during the past 2 years has been in progress between the C. P. R. and J. J. Hill, the one party endeavoring to secure an entrance for the Great Northern to Vancouver and the other blocking that scheme for very obvious reasons culminated in a pitched battle in the dark hours of last night when a Great Northern train with a full equipment of track lifting tools and personally commanded by managing director A. E. Wood, of the New Westminster & Yukon line, the Great Northern's subsidiary road to Canada at this point quickly lifted a considerable section of the Canadian Pacific track near Stepperton, New Westminster and provided for the much opposed crossing by putting in a diamond. The entire work was completed when the C. P. R. trackmen when to work. The first day was to report the astonishing news to Vancouver from whence a special train load of officials came in haste. A locomotive of the C. P. R. was stationed on the diamond to bar the passage of the Great Northern train and then a rush was made to the courts for legal injunctions. Simultaneously the city of Vancouver took alarm at the construction of a track along the tide flats by which the Great Northern proposed to enter the town although the conditions of the right of way were still a subject of negotiation. The Mayor's mandate to the man on the pile driver was to stop work at once and a squad of police were provided to make the necessary arrests. The city collector also acted for an injunction to restrain and enjoin the pile driver. Hired a lawyer for both applicants for 10 o'clock tomorrow. Mr. N. White of the Great Northern construction gang is moving contentedly forward and their chief asserted that their purpose in securing a crossing over the C. P. R. has been satisfactorily accomplished and they defend their action in making the crossing by the recent decision in their favor by the railway committee of the House of Commons. The C. P. R. deny the right of proceeding until their appeal from the railway committee of the House of Commons can receive consideration. At present mutual neutrality is being preserved although it would seem

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1903.

Hatfield, Li desired Lord Salisbury's consent to an increase on import duties upon British goods entering China, but the wily Oriental could wheel nothing out of his host, and he returned with a burning hostility to Great Britain's Prime Minister.

He was succeeded in the Premiership of Britain by his nephew, Hon. Mr. Balfour, about two years ago, and since then he has been but little in the public eye.

Bell Telephone Monopoly

The Alberta Advocate, Red Deer in a recent issue says—

The Bell Telephone Company is now trying to force itself on young communities in Alberta and so doing it ends up to that monopoly. By itself imposing an inferior service, it induces exorbitant rates. For a miserable service compared with that which the Western Telephone Company proposes to give Red Deer, they charge their customers $17 for a business telephone and $20 (exactly double) for a residence telephone. Just now they are putting a line on the C. R. trail, and are not too careful where they plant their poles, trespassing as they do, even upon private property and having to be compelled to remove them. In the highland course, which is a characteristic of this company, it is now said that the right of the corporation of Red Deer to control its streets will be ignored by this company; that in spite of the municipality they will put their poles lines on any street they please. Right here is the rub. The town has given an exclusive right for a term of years to a local company in exchange for very valuable and important benefits, to be enjoyed by the citizens and municipality, as to the price of both telephone and electric lighting services and in order that the people may receive and enjoy these concessions and advantages, the local company must afford the exclusive opportunity which it was agreed would be given.

The local company has placed the contract for several carloads of poles, which are to be delivered during the present month. Specifications and tenders have been obtained from the great electrical factories on the continent for the installation of a complete electrical plant and powerhouse, of 2,000 light capacity; and the very best and latest telephone system. This company has found some difficulty in coming to an understanding with the townsite owners as to a site for the power house, but within a few days this question will be determined whereupon immediate steps will be taken to place the contracts throughout, including a substantial building that will be a credit to the place, some notion of the extent of the plant that will be installed can be formed from the fact that the machinery received will amount to four car loads.

The statement having been made that the local company had no intention of providing the service which it had undertaken, we are authorized to give that statement the most unusual denial and to assert that on or before the first day of December next, the town of Red Deer will possess an electric lighting system of which it will have reason to be proud, and a telephone service unequalled in the Territories, and beside which the Bell service is a poor affair. To place such a service in the homes of the people at one-half that the Bell company charges for its inferior service is an achievement of infinite credit to the inventor and council for which they deserve the hearty thanks and support of every inhabitant who wishes to see the town prosper.

In addition to the foregoing service, it is the intention of the local company to establish works and machine shops for the manufacture of electrical goods and apparatus so that it is hoped this will be the beginning of an important industry. Furthermore, the company intends to construct next year a trunk telephone line from Calgary to Edmonton, to which purpose government authority has already been obtained and from Red Deer rural lines will radiate east and west to such points as Pine Lake, Tail Creek, Burnt Lake and intermediate points; thus making Red Deer an important centre. When the Red Deer telephone system goes into operation it will dominate beyond all dispute its vast superiority over the service which the people of Canada have hitherto had to accept at the hands of the Bell company.

In his speech on the future of electricity at the opening of the Lethbridge electric railway was a notable contribution to science; and his inaugural address as president of the British Association, in 1894, upon the unnecessary limitations of science, bespoke him a man of wide speculation. In 1890 he became clerk for the University of Oxford, in succession to the Earl of Derby, and his constant sympathy with educational development has been a feature of his public life.

When Li Hung Chang visited Great Britain, in 1903, he was entertained by the Prime Minister at

Brighter Literature

The editor of The Canadian Magazine in the September number complains that Canadian writers are prone to be scholarly and dull. The accusation is true in the main, as Canada has produced only one notable humourist. Yet this particular issue of The Canadian Magazine contains much bright reading, and almost gives an answer to the editor's criticism. Jane Jones does well in her article "A Sofa's Reminiscences," breaking way from the ordinary style of story-telling. Harold Sanden also in telling his historical incidents with new flavour, as does J. Gordon Smith in his more pretentious article describing "The Romance of Sealing."

Apart from the particular merits of the issue is "Preferential Trade in Relation to Canada and the Empire," by Hon. G. W. Ross, who writes almost as well as he speaks.

Among the short stories, Duncan Campbell Scott's "The Winning of Marie-Louise," easily stands first.

Mr. Scott pays the French Canadian a high compliment in this tale, Jean Bievret's "On the Ponoka Reserve" exhibits a somewhat unusual vein, but is a good story. The illustrations of the number are very fair.

Crater.

Naples, Aug. 26.—The people of Naples and environs witnessed a remarkable spectacle at noon today. One thousand feet below the centre cone of Vesuvius the volcano opened like a high mouth end of which belched a fury stream of lava, which ran down the side of the mountain and at first seemed to menace the observatory but later it deviated from the building. The eruption occurred without any warning whatever.

There was no earthquake, detonation or rum of notes, but a clear stream of lava, and red hot stones which were thrown to a height of 70 feet. The stream of lava, 15 feet broad, at 11 o'clock tonight had covered a distance of 2,700 feet. The eruption seems to be decreasing, and it is hoped that no damage will result.

The spectators for enough were frightened, also frightened at the sight, but these never were soled by pain, and dashed down the sides of the mountain to the village nearby.

Two Cloudbursts

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 27.—

Two cloudbursts tonight destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property in this city. The first storm turned the water out of the river and hundreds of families in the town and districts of the town were removed from their homes with difficulty. Another storm later in the evening raised the water still higher. The loss in this city alone will reach half a million of dollars. Traffic on the Northwestern R. R. is suspended. The Rock Island and Milwaukee railway is also tied up.

Woods Phosphodine is sold in Wetaskiwin by J. H. Walker, H. L. Higgs and A. E. Gaynor.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1903.

The Value of a Dog.

The canine may be a useless cur as far as the public is concerned but in most cases it is of intrinsic value to the owner. The following item will be interesting reading to the subscribers of this paper in town, just after so many of our dogs have been poisoned.

One of the most eloquent tributes ever paid to the dog was delivered by Senator Vest, of Missouri, some years ago. He was attending court in a country town, and while waiting for the trial of a case in which he was interested, was urged by the attorneys in a degree to help them. Evidence was introduced to show that the defendant had shot the dog in malice, while other evidence went to show that the dog had attacked the defendant. Mr. Vest had no part in the trial, and was not disposed to speak. The attorneys argued him, however, and he consented. He arose silent a moment, and then said:—

"Gentlemen of the Jury. The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he loves most with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our happiness and our good name may become traitors to their faith."

"The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do honour when success is with us may be the first to throw the same if malice or failure settle its clouds upon their heads."

"The one absolutely unshakable friend that man can have in this world, which is never desert him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous is his dog."

"A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fierce if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer. He guards the sleep of his master master as if the master were a prince."

"When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there, by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes and, but open in alert watchfulness faithful and true even in death."

Senator Vest sat down. He had spoken in low voice without a gesture. He made no reference to the existence or the merits of the cause. With the finished, pale and weary eyes closing their eyes, the jury filed out, but soon entered with a verdict of $500 for the plaintiff, whose dog had been shot; and it was said the defendant considered himself lucky to have escaped hanging."

Two Cloudbursts

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Hon. W. H. Fielding has sent to night, down a resolution to government, to advise the government of the North-west Territories to require for local improvements to an amount not exceeding in the maximum $250,000. All sums so advanced are to be charged to the North-west Territories debt amount, and when Provincial autonomy is granted to the Territories will be treated as a debt due by them to the Dominion.

Will C. N. R. Come West

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 29.—It is hardly correct to say that we have abandoned our proposed transcontinental scheme, but it looks as though we would have to postpone the construction of a through line from the Atlantic to the Pacific," was the response made last night by William MacKenzie, when shown the statement crediting his partner with having stated that the MacKenzie & Mann transcontinental line would be abandoned.

"Substantially," Mr. MacKenzie continued, "the statement is correct but I doubt very much if Mr. Mann used the word abandoned. We have not given up the idea of striving and working as best we may towards the desired goal. The transcontinental line does not depend so much upon us, however, as upon the government and the country. It is just a question whether the country will aid a third transcontinental line."

Dysentery causes the death of more than half a million yellow fever victims every year. It requires prompt medical treatment.
